Light Rate Up to Council

THIRTY MERCHANTS, AT CONFAB, DEPEND ON OFFICIALS' DECISION

Many Differences of Opinion Shown as Men Gather; Municipal Ownership of Power Company Brought Into Consideration

Citizens and merchants bounced the light rate problems around at all angles for two hours Tuesday evening, arrived at no definite conclusion, then tossed them back to councilmen to settle "with their best judgment."

General opinions gathered at the session indicate consumers have no complaints to offer on the domestic schedule, merchants consider the commercial rates too high in comparison to domestic rates, and citizens are divided concerning the length of the contract.

55-CENT RATE FOR GAS FIXED

Supreme Court Sets Price for Columbus to Pay

COLUMBUS, July 22.—(UP)—The Ohio Supreme court today upheld a 55-cent gas rate for the city of Columbus.

The decision was based on an ordinance passed by the Columbus city council and approved by voters in 1929, establishing a 48-cent rate.

The city is served by the Ohio Fuel Gas Co.

The 55-cent rate had been set by the Ohio public utilities commission 17 months ago for the city.

The court's decision of June 21, 1933, holding the 48-cent rate adequate as claimed by the city, was reversed. The court voted 5 to 2, Judges W. P. Stephens and Roy Williams dissenting.

The case has been before the utilities commission twice, the Ohio supreme court three times and the U. S. supreme court twice. Hearing before the commission lasted two years. The city has spent $300,000 in legal and other expenses.

Watchman Grilled in Co-ed Death

SHERIFF CLAIMS HOTEL MAN KEY TO GIRL'S DEATH

Daniel Gaddy, 28, Questioned About Failure of Clock to Register 1 A. M.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., July 22.—(UP)—The paper recording disk of a watchman's time clock offered the greatest hope authorities had today of finding the slayer of Helen Clevenger, 10-year-old New York university student.

Miss Clevenger was criminally attacked and shot and beaten to death in her room in the Battery Park hotel at approximately 1 a. m. last Thursday. Daniel Gaddy, 28-year-old night watchman, violated hotel rules by failing to punch his time clock near Miss Clevenger's room at that hour, the clock's recording disk showed. He was late when he passed the post at 2 a. m.

Deviation Is Mystery After five days of clue chasing in which six persons have at various times been arrested as suspects or as material witnesses, Gaddy's apparent deviation from his routine took place as one of

APPEALS COURT RULES AGAINST JONES' DIVORCE

Decision of Judge H. M. Rankin, Washington C. H., in favor of Hildebrand Jones, former local auto dealer, in his divorce case against Florence R. Jones, N. Scioto street, was reversed by the court of appeals Tuesday.

In his action Jones charged gross neglect of duty and cruelty to him. Then the case was appealed.

The decision, of the court of appeals filed in common pleas court Wednesday morning, states the petition did not contain an averment that the plaintiff was a resident of the state for one year before filing his petition, and did not state facts sufficient to constitute a cause of action.

The decision stated practically all of the evidence offered consisted of the testimony of Mr. and Mrs. Jones. "The testimony of the plaintiff himself made only a weak case in his behalf," the judges said, "and the material facts of his testimony were not corroborated."

Mrs. Jones did not ask a divorce. Her answer to the petition denied the allegations only. The court of appeals entered judgment in favor of Mrs. Jones and denied Mr. Jones a divorce.

BELL TELEPHONE ORDERED TO PAY USERS MILLIONS

Supreme Court Rules Refund of $11,832,264 for Utility Customers

FIGHT 12 YEARS OLD

40 Ohio Cities, Towns Affected by Order, Signed by All But One Judge

COLUMBUS, July 22.—(UP)—The Ohio Supreme court today ordered the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to refund $11,832,264 to its customers.

The decision in the 12 year old rate case was unanimous except that Judge Thomas A. Jones did not participate.

In a 20,000-word decision, the court refused a refund of $838,000 asked by the city of Cleveland Telephone exchange area and ordered a refund of $645,132 in the area.

Fought Commission

The Cleveland case was a companion case to the telephone company's case against the Public Utilities commission. The city however had asked a larger refund than that ordered by the commission in 1934.

Forty cities and towns in the state are affected by the decision, including all the large cities except Cincinnati.

The $11,832,264 refund does not include interest. The refund sum is under bond, and no provision for interest has been made. A further court action over interest was considered likely.

The court upheld the utilities commission in detail on disputed points, including valuation on the basis of declining price trends on depreciation figures, and on the allowance of a rate of return ranging from 7 per cent in 1925 down to 5 1/2 per cent in 1933.

"The company strenuously complains because although neither side introduced evidence of price trends, the commission took judicial notice of such trends," the court's decision said.

"But even a casual examination of the decisions of the United States supreme court unquestionably

GAS GUN FIRES, INJURES DEPUTY SHERIFF'S LEG

Everyone near Deputy Sheriff Bob Armstrong wept Tuesday evening when he suffered a gunshot burn on his right leg.

Bob cried, his friends and neighbors wept, and tears streamed down the face of Dr. E. L. Montgomery, as he dressed the injury.

The deputy was entering a county car parked in front of his home on Watt street when a tear gas gun in his pocket discharged. He sustained powder burns on his leg. The shot burned several holes in his clothing.

Tear gas saturated his clothing. Dr. Montgomery said it was some time before the fumes cleared from his office after he had treated the burns. The deputy took tetanus antitoxin as a precaution against lockjaw.

Armstrong was unable to explain what caused the gun to discharge. He believes it was tangled with his watch chain. The gun, using a .410 size shell, is shaped like a fountain pen.

OHIOAN ADMITS WIFE'S MURDER

Joseph Perryman, Real Estate Dealer, Under Arrest

BELLEVUE, July 22.—(UP)—Joseph W. Perryman, 42, real estate dealer of Bellevue, who with his wife, Margaret Perryman, 53, has been missing for a week, confessed early today that he shot and killed her "because he wanted to be free to run around," officers said.

The Perrymans had been missing from their home since July 14. He was detained in Tiffin late yesterday on a worthless check charge. His confession was made at 1 a. m. today after hours of questioning concerning the whereabouts of his wife.

A party of officers and newspaper men who were present when Perryman confessed left immediately for Bellevue. At 3 a. m. Mrs. Perryman's partly decomposed body was found in a woods, five miles southeast of Bellevue. The body was about 50 feet from the edge of the woods.

A .22 caliber bullet had pierced the base of Mrs. Perryman's brain.

Perryman told Sheriff Verne Deats of Seneca county Prosecutor of Seneca county and Ralph R. Barker, Bellevue attorney, he killed his wife on July 14, the day they left home.

Since then, Perryman was quoted as saying, he had been driving around northern Ohio, visiting Lorain, Elyria, Tiffin and Sandusky.

The state highway patrol broadcast that the Perrymans were missing, last Monday.

At first, Perryman told officers he had left his wife in Bellevue and that he did not know what had happened to her.

HEAVY FIGHTING REPORTED

Workers' Unions Ended by Decree of Outlaw Leader in Try to Demoralize

SEVILLE, July 22.—(UP)—Revolutionary planes bombed and sank three government warships which were bombarding Cadix, Gen. Queipo de Llano, rebel chief in the south, announced today in a radio broadcast.

LISBON, Portugal, July 22.—(UP)—Gen. Francisco Franco, commander in chief of the Spanish rebel forces, proclaimed today a military dictatorship throughout the country.

He decreed also the dissolution of all workers' organizations of any sort, in an effort to overawe the left wing labor union men whose militia has fought side by side with loyal soldiers and police.

Franco's order was flashed from the broadcasting station at Seville, the rebels' general headquarters in the south, by Gen. Queipo de Llano, commanding in the area, in Franco's name.

Nears Civil War

The other marked a new turn in the rebellion as fighting became general, and increasingly fierce, throughout Spain. The revolt was assuming the proportions of a civil war.

Franco's decree struck to the heart of the situation. They were the formal announcement to the country as a whole of the aim of the revolt—a steel army dictatorship and removal of the increasingly great power of the left wing political and labor elements.

In city, town and village rebel army men and Fascists fought loyal troops, police, storm guards, civil guards and workers' militia. The issue remained in doubt.

There was no doubt that the rebellion far surpassed the gravity that of October, 1934, in which 1,400 killed were officially admitted. Reports of individual engagements indicated that this total of dead must already have been surpassed, with the final test of strength still to come.

Rebels held the north from the Bay of Biscay to the Valladolid-Zaragoza line, 90 miles north of Madrid. They were spreading their gains over the north.

The rebels were losing strength in the south, which they still held.

Federals Hold Catalonia

The government held Catalonia, in the northeast, second only to the Madrid area in importance, and the area all around the capital. It was on the offensive in the Madrid region and columns were moving out to oust small rebel nests in neighboring towns.

The nerve shattering crash of aerial bombs, the thunder of field guns, the clatter of machine gun and rifle fire resounded at many points. Warships were shelling Coruna, on the northwest coast, and on the Moroccan coast. They were ready to shell southern coastal towns held by rebels. Flames from the ruins of churches, homes and business buildings reddened the skies at some points over the country.

Reports came frequently of fights of small groups. In most of them casualties seemed to be tragically great.

Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel commander in chief in the north, held San Sebastian, gaveled seaside resort in Spain, where American Ambassador Claude C. Bowers and members of his staff are vacationing. SCIENTISTS FIND MEANS TO HALT INFLUENZA GERM

Harvard Men Use Violet Ray;
May Remove Disease from Among Scourges

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 22.—(UP)—Two Harvard university scientists announced today that they have discovered a means of killing influenza germs by violet ray and hope eventually to perfect a technique that will remove the disease from among man's major scourges.

Dr. W. F. Wells, an instructor in sanitary science at the Harvard School of Public Health and Dr. H. W. Brown of the London School of Tropical Medicine have been working a year on the experiments, using a specially-constructed, hermetically-sealed tank.

Influenza virus from the lungs of an infected ferret were sprayed into the tank. Then drawn off in test tubes.

Ferrets that were given the treated virus failed to contract the disease, while those that breathed the untreated virus immediately developed influenza.

Light Power Shown

"In view of the proven possibility of infected matter being carried by air," Dr. Wells said, "reasonable efforts to free air supplies from living micro-organisms are justified in the light of general sanitary principles. The effectiveness of ultra-violet light for such purposes would also seem to be demonstrated by our experiments."

"The great reduction of intestinal disease through water purification since the turn of the century might prompt us to hope that some of the diseases which are transmitted through the respiratory tract may be checked by methods of purifying air supplies."

Special precautions were taken to prevent the germs from escaping from the tank into the outside air around Harvard medical school, as they might have caused an epidemic among the students.

Virus Air Burned

The air in which the virus had been sprayed had to be burned after the experiments. The virus is fine enough to pass through the smallest filter.

The original material for the experiments was obtained by field workers of the Rockefeller institute in Puerto Rico during an influenza epidemic. Preparatory work before the actual experiments could be started took five years. The germs were brought to Harvard suspended in liquid.

LEWIS REFUSES TO FACE TRIAL

Open Bolt of Million From Green is Expected

WASHINGTON, July 22.—(UP)—John L. Lewis led 1,200,000 organized workers today in an open revolt against the American Federation of Labor executive council, declaring "there can be no surrender."

Refusing with 11 associated committee of industrial organization leaders to stand trial before the council on insurrection charges, Lewis threatened to carry his fight to the A. F. of L. convention this fall.

While disputing authority of the council to try them Aug. 3, the 12 C. I. O. leaders, all heads of powerful unions affiliated with the A. F. of L. denied any intention of bolting the Federation.

Lewis indicated the C. I. O. will push vigorously its drive for organization of 875,000 steel, automobile, rubber and textile workers into "one big union" in each industry. For this activity the council has threatened to suspend C. I. O. members.

At conclusion of a secret meeting late yesterday Lewis and his associates sent William Green, A. F. of L. president, a sharply-worded letter declining to appear for trial and denying power of the council to exile them.

1775 'HAZARDS' REMOVED FROM OHIO HIGHWAYS

11 Months of New Drivers'
Law Brings Splendid
Results for State

COLUMBUS, July 22.—(UP)—Within the 11 months that the new state financial responsibility law has been in effect for Ohio motorists, 1775 potential "hazards" have been removed from behind the steering wheels of automobiles according to John R. Pierce, attorney-examiner for the State Bureau of Motor Vehicles. Courts have reported in a total of 2300 cases to the state registrar of motor vehicles for possible revocation of licenses and driving rights, Pierce said.

Of these, 1880 have come up for final disposition, and 1775 have lost their rights. Companies Careful Only 151 of those reported in have been able to get insurance coverage, proving, Pierce said, that insurance companies make careful examination before standing back of drivers who have already proven their irresponsibility.

"The chances are about 18 to 1 against a driver's retaining his driving rights after he once has been reported Pierce said. The 151 drivers who were allowed to retain their licenses, now are protected by a total of $1,661,000 of liability insurance. Five different types of court convictions may bring drivers up for removal of license rights. These are: manslaughter, failing to stop after an accident, driving while intoxicated, felony in which a motor vehicle is used, and failure to satisfy a civil court judgment in connection with an accident within 30 days after a court decision is rendered.

Of the 2300 cases reported, Pierce said, 93 per cent have been for driving when intoxicated, six per cent for failure to stop after accidents, and the rest for manslaughter and failure to satisfy judgments.

LANDON READY TO ACCEPT JOB

Kansas Governor to Talk

TOPEKA, Kans., July 22.—(UP)—Gov. Alf M. Landon today approached a climactic hour in his political career at the same hurried pace that carried him to triumph in this prairie state and to the Republican presidential nomination.

Tomorrow evening when a flaming summer sun dies beyond the valley of the Kaw, the Kansas governor will go out on the steps of the state capital to accept leadership of his party and—more important—to be formally introduced to the nation for the first time. But if Landon believes the reaction to his initial appeal to millions of voters who will hear his voice will weigh heavily in the campaign scales he has refused to permit even a breath of excitement alter the even tenor of his routine.

Many Signing Sales Tax Petitions

COLUMBUS, July 22.—Ohio citizens were given wholehearted endorsement to Governor Martin L. Davey's proposed constitutional amendment banning state sales tax on food consumed in the home, as petitions were in circulation in every county of the state today.

The constitutional amendment proposed for vote of the people at the November election must receive 220,000 signatures to qualify for submission to the people but the unanimous response favorable to the proposition indicates that many times the required number of signers will be obtained before filing date August 5.

August 1 Deadline The committee supervising the circulation of the petitions has asked that all petitions be forwarded to Columbus not later than August 1 in order that a check-up on the names might be made by the circulating committee before submitting the petitions to the Secretary of State.

From every county come assurances that removal of the sales tax on food as proposed by Governor Davey has developed an unusual interest among housewives of the state who envision the savings they will obtain when this tax on groceries, meats and household food is banned.

Governor Davey proposed the constitutional amendment to ban the sales tax on foodstuffs consumed in the home after the legislature procrastinated in action to take the sales tax off food through legislative enactment. By means of the constitutional amendment, Governor Davey has taken his fight to the people in asking their cooperation in eliminating the sales tax on food consumed in the home.

To place the issue on the ballot it is necessary to obtain the required 220,000 signatures from all parts of Ohio.

Popularity of the Governor's proposed amendment has made "the going" easy for the volunteer circulators who are covering the 88 counties of the state.

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., July 22—The regional headquarters of the Resettlement Administration today reported more than 6,000 men at work on land conservation and resettlement projects in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri. The bulk of these men are employed on 15 land use projects and the remainder on one Rural home-stead project.

Projects devoted to recreational development of submarginal land comprise the largest source of employment. There are six such projects in the region. They are providing work to approximately 2,500 men in construction camps, cabins, shelter houses, swimming pools, beaches, roads, foot trails, picnic grounds, etc.

Other Tasks Listed Other categories of employment are reforestation erosion control demonstration, forest stand improvement, pasture improvement demonstration and game preservation.

The projects are absorbing all available relief workers in certain counties. In some projects, labor camps have been established to provide employment to men who live too far away to commute daily to the point of operations.

With the exception of certain classes of highly skilled workers, all employees are drawn from the WPA rolls or from families whose lands have been purchased by the Resettlement Administration for retirement and conservation development.

Employment by states follows: Illinois — 1,300. Indiana — 1,700. Iowa — 125. Ohio — 1,200. Missouri, 1,720.

Railroad to Link Czechs Soviet?

A STRATEGIC railroad, to connect Russia and Czechoslovakia, is being planned, according to informed sources from Bukharest, Rumania. The projected road, shown on map above, is said to have been insisted upon by Czechoslovakia and to be financed by Prague to give Russian troops quick access to the heart of Europe in the event the Franco-Czech-Russian alliance is obliged to take defensive action. Meanwhile, other advices from Prague described the strategic railway as a myth and said what actually was being built was a motor highway through the tip of eastern Czechoslovakia and into Rumania.

COLUMBUS NOTE OF 1493 FOUND MONAGHAN AND MURRAY CLOSE

PARIS (UP)—An authentic letter written by Christopher Columbus in January, 1493, before his return voyage to Europe after his discovery of America has been found in Paris.

The letter has been found in the dusty archives of a Spanish mansion house for four and a half centuries, and now is in possession of the Paris branch of Messrs. Maggs Brothers, London booksellers, who procured it from a person unnamed. He is said, however, to be "the richest man in Spain."

There are only about 75 words in the letter, in which Columbus gives instructions to a trusted friend regarding disposal of personal cases, secret documents or treasure which the explorer arranged to leave in America when he returned to Spain.

The letter was addressed to Rodrigo de Escovedo, a Spanish Judge, who was a member of Columbus' party, who remained in America after Columbus returned to Europe.

The letter first came to light several years before the Spanish revolution, when it was bought by a member of the Spanish royal family and a member of the Spanish aristocracy.

"There are few letters of Columbus in existence. There are two in the archives of Seville, four in the Madrid Museum, and two at Genoa where the Bank of St. George's handled the financial affairs of Columbus.

The letter now in Paris is acknowledged as authentic, as the signature is identical with those on the other letters in existence. It is yellow with age, its edges tattered and torn, and the ink has faded. It is preserved between two sheets of glass, which enables the message on one side and the address on the other to be seen.

Irrigation and Retirement of Big Acreage Called Dust Bowl Cure

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP)—Walter B. Pitkin, educator, author and farm manager, sees irrigation, financed with money saved from flood damage, as the "cure" for the dust bowl.

Pitkin toured the drought-stricken Northwest, and formed the theory that irrigation throughout the Missouri Valley and a chain of a thousand lakes along the river to trap flood waters is the solution. "In a large part of the Northwest, and parts of western Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas there are but two 'outs' for the farmer if he does not want to stay on his acreage and starve," the author of "Life Begins at 40" said.

"He must either move to other sections or the government will have to pay him money to enable him to exist."

Advise to West "We are in a state of reorganization in this country. The West must go in for irrigation, and put back the buffalo grass which was plowed under for big scale farming."

"We have come to the end of big scale farming. The farm section of the West should be located within a radius of four miles on each side of the rivers for easy irrigation."

"Take Kansas City, Mo., as an example. From damage caused by floods by the Missouri and Kaw rivers enough would be saved for a vast irrigation system in the river valley north of Kansas City. Calls 20 Acres Ideal

"We as a nation must go in for farming on a smaller scale. In the irrigation country, 20 acres is a large farm."

Pitkin declared that he would tell audiences in his lectures that there is now a chance to be agricultural pioneers, that vast regions of farm land can be substituted for the drought area.

"There are the rich, irrigated regions of the Columbia and Culee rivers in the Northwest," he said. "There are fine, irrigated sections in Colorado and northern California, where they never have to worry about rain."

Frances Boulder Dam "Ten millions of people could live on farms around Corpus Christi, Tex. I think the Boulder Dam a great project. There are vast acreages in the Gulf Coast country that can be drained, improved, and changed into rich farm country that will support a vast farm population."

"Year after year we go on having floods that kill and damage, while if we took the same money spent on relief and used it to irrigate, we could end floods and grow fine crops."

"It is so simple I can't, for the life of me, see why we haven't done it years ago."

The author in recent years has had experience in farm management, and now operates 6,200 acres in New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

COAST CUTTERS SEEK LOST SHIP

Amphibian Planes Used in Lauderdale Area

FT. LAUDERDALE, Fla., July 22—(UP)—A dozen coast guard cutters and three flights of amphibian planes searched tropical seas today for flotsam of the British motorship Nunoca, which would confirm belief that it exploded in the Gulf Stream, killing its 13 passengers and crew of nine.

Virtually all hope of rescuing those aboard the 110 foot craft which cleared out of Georgetown, Grenada, on July 4 bound for Tampa, Fla., passed when a patrol boat picked up a charred metal oil drum 25 miles northeast of Key West.

The drum was similar to those strapped to the deck of the Nunoca and searchers concluded that the "curse of the Kirkconells" had claimed another victim, Capt. Moses I. Kirkconell, master of the Nunoca and member of a seagoing family that has lost four members in unsolved mysteries of the treacherous gulf stream.

NEW FARM DANGER

TORRID heat and drought have brought a new danger to Pickaway county farm lands.

Devastating field fires have swept many sections of the county causing losses that cannot be accurately estimated. One farmer narrowly escaped being burned to death when he was overcome fighting a blaze on his farm. City and village firemen, state highway workers and neighbors join forces to fight these fires. In several instances they have extinguished fires within a short distance of homes, barns and sheds.

Farmers should take every precaution to prevent these dangerous fires, and in the event one starts on their farm have equipment ready.

Practically all of the fires have started along highways from cigars or cigarettes carelessly thrown from autos. With little time and expense landowners could plow several furrows along their road fences to prevent fires from spreading to their stubble and pasture fields.

ON FASHION'S CAP

MUCH in life remains depressingly static. But there is the gratifying certainty that the relief presented by variety can be found in the contemplation of what women wear.

Consider buttons. Time was when they were just buttons, serving a useful purpose, but without special ambition. There might have been some buttons which felt self-consciously, that they "went" with a costume, but even to dream of becoming "accessories" probably would have daunted them. Not so with the buttons of today. Practically infinite in design and number, they fully realize their importance, and, aided and abetted by the fabricators of frocks, capes and coats, do their best to live up to it.

Moreover, they seek new fields to conquer. They adorn bags and are seen among hat trimmings. Being worn on the head crowns, both literally and figuratively, the button's present achievement. A button on a hat indicates, by its very position, its own high rank. Shakespeare makes pointed reference to the button on fortune's cap. For the modern button, merely substitute fashion for fortune.

That something of a button eclipse took place during fairly recent years will be attested by persons of a reminiscent turn. Now, so essential have buttons come to be, they call for enumeration as to color. One button authority has been doing some early Summer counting up. The record to date shows that of every hundred buttons being made for women's dresses, fifty are white, twenty-five red, five blue, five yellow, five pink and four green. The half-dozen remaining buttons are of varied hue.

YACHT ALMOST SANK

WASHINGTON — Vague news of a collision between the President's yacht and a photographers' boat has leaked out, but the facts regarding the seriousness of the crash have been carefully concealed. For one brief moment it looked as if the Sewanna, with the Roosevelts aboard, would founder.

It happened this way: Photographers had hired a boat to get close-ups of the President embarking at North Haven, Maine, and were told by Marvin McIntyre to wait at the wharf until he was lowered over the side of his destroyer on to the yacht. Then the destroyer would send them a messenger, and they would come close and take all the pictures they wanted.

Three and a half hours passed. No messenger. Finally they noticed that the President's flag was being lowered from the destroyer, indicating he had left it. So they started out to catch the Sewanna, manned by Roosevelt and his sons.

PHOTOGRAPHERS' ARGUMENT

By that time, she was well outside the harbor, but they finally caught up with her. Then an argument ensued among the photographers, the movie men wanting long distance shots with long distance lenses, the newspaper photographers wanting close-ups for still pictures.

Finally the movies were given their chance, then the boat was ordered closer for the stills. About this time a heavy squall came up. Both boats were pitching.

The captain of the chartered vessel, being given orders simultaneously by every photographer aboard, tried to get very close to the yacht, at which point a big wave swept the two vessels together.

The President's sons, shrieking curses at the photographers, tried desperately to keep out of the way. But the two boats collided, and the bowsprit of the Sewanna got entangled with the bow of the other boat.

The President's sons did not mince words telling the photographers what they thought of them, and orders were given that all future pictures must be taken on land. The incident did not help Roosevelt relations with the Boston press—whatever those relations may be worth.

BY HIS OWN PETARD

Ex-Comptroller General John R. McCarl now knows exactly what is meant by the expression, "hoist by his own petard." His enlightenment came about this way:

On the eve of his retiring from fifteen years as watch-dog of the Treasury, a minor executive in his office opened a subscription list to buy McCarl a farewell gift. When the total pledges were tallied they came to $2,000, and it was decided to buy him an A-1 automobile.

A committee was picked, motor agencies visited and everything was all set for a final choice when one of the General Accounting Office employees quietly produced a forgotten document.

This was a stern ruling by McCarl holding that government workers could not contribute to a fund to buy gifts for a superior officer. McCarl had issued his decree a year earlier, when he learned that AAA employees proposed to buy a watch for an executive.

"Fair enough!" The doctor glanced around like a conspirator. "Come into the lounge, and I'll explain."

They sat down together on one of the sofas, and Doctor Wilson announced, "I'm in a jam, and I need some very nice young lady like yourself to help me out. Before you came along, I approached three others, and every damned one of 'em was otherwise engaged. If you refuse, it will be just too bad."

"I won't refuse," Gay promised. "What is it you want me to do?"

"I'm coming round to that. Suppose I begin at the beginning. Have you ever read 'Alice in Wonderland'?"

"Marvelous book. The White Queen gives Alice some excellent advice about telling a story. Begin at the beginning, she says. Go on till you come to the end. And then stop. . . Priceless!"

Gay smiled, feeling suddenly quite at ease with this queer, delightful doctor, so different from any man she'd ever talked to before.

"I remember that! Only it wasn't the White Queen. It was—'Right!'" interrupted Doctor Wilson. "Well, in the beginning, about a week ago in fact, my wife and I planned a dinner party for tonight, in honor of a guest from New York. A Mr. Adams—Wayne Adams. It was to be a very nice party—private dining room upstairs here—and so on and so forth. Fourteen of us. Note that carefully. Fourteen. Seven men and seven ladies. Do you follow me?"

"Yes, doctor."

"We started out tonight by having a few cocktails at our house. Then we had a few more at Mark Vance's place. You know Mark Vance, the artist? No? Great chap. Nothing like any artist I ever met before. Well, anyway—"

He paused, and ran his hands desperately through his thick gray hair. "Good Lord, I don't seem to be getting anywhere, but the gist of the thing is, that one

Partner's failure to show a second suit or to jump his spade take-out caused South to pass, as he questioned whether game could be made at anything. This was wise, as results showed.

East had a bad opening lead to make. He did not want to lead trumps from a major tenace, so he had to open a suit headed by a K. The imperfect tenace in hearts made that suit worse to lead than either minor suit. Finally he led his lowest club. Dummy's Ace took the trick. West was given a club trick. Then defender led his last club. Declarer ruffed.

A low trump was led. East won with his Ace of spades. He could not hope to win a second trick in the suit. Had he put up his Q,

COUNTY TO ORGANIZE NATURAL RESOURCES COUNCIL AT MONDAY MEETING

ORANGES, 4H
BOYS, FARMERS HAVE PARTS

Other Gatherings Being Held
Throughout Ohio in Effort to Save Wild Life

Representatives of all Pickaway county organizations have been invited to attend a meeting in Memorial Hall next Monday at 8 o'clock to organize a Natural Resources Council for the county. All persons interested in the protection and increase of native wild life are urged to be present. The meeting will be one of a group being held on the same evening in every county in Ohio. State president of the Grange, the 4-H Clubs, the League of Ohio Sportsmen, the Federated Women's Clubs, the Izaak Walton League, the farm Bureau, those and many others, have requested that their membership be well represented. The purpose of the movement is to federate all these interested units in an effort to secure proper legislation for the conservation and restoration of wild life resources.

To Form State Unit
Throughout Ohio, Natural Resources Councils will be held. The individual units will send representatives to Columbus for the formation of a state organization. The State organization is a part of a district group, and district groups all over the nation will be headed by a national organization with headquarters in Washington. The Ohio meetings are a direct outgrowth of the National Wildlife Conference held in Washington last winter at the call of President Roosevelt. At that time Jay "Ding" Darling was elected temporary national president. Darling, one-time head of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, is one of the best-known of American conservationists.

There are in the United States more than 10,000,000 persons interested in the out-of-doors. Unorganized, these forces have been powerless to protect the natural resources of the nation, according to Mr. Darling. Organized, he believes, they can exert a tremendous force in securing proper conservation legislation.

The commission also approved moving the Tony Canzoneri-Lou Ambers lightweight title fight from July 30 to Aug. 6.

INDIANS PLAY YANKEES
IN STADIUM AUGUST 2

CLEVELAND, July 22—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians will move back to the spacious lake-front stadium—but only for a day.

Alva Bradley, president of the Cleveland club, announced today the Indians game with the New York Yankees here Sunday, Aug. 2, had been transferred from League Park to the Stadium.

The switch was made, Bradley said, because of the great demand for tickets to the contest since the Indians' successful road trip east and to provide an added attraction for the Great Lakes Exposition.

Indians Slash Lead of Yankee Team

NEW YORK, July 22—(UP)—The Cleveland Indians, tapping a seemingly unlimited supply of fireballs since Fourth of July are making heavy inroads today into the lead of the New York Yankees. They piled up during the first half of the American League campaign.

The cannonading ended on Independence Day the Yankees were up on the Detroit Tigers. The Indians pattering along in 13½ games off the Yankees in 15 games each team won then, the Indians hammered out 13 victories over the Yankees, and "piled right" into the chal-

The victory was the Reds' fourth in 14 starts this year against Boston and kept them within striking distance of Pittsburgh and New York, tied for third place.

OILS CLOUT BALL

Eshelman Feeds had a ball game in the bag Tuesday evening 6 to 1 at the end of four innings, but lost their margin in the fifth and sixth sessions, going down to defeat 8 to 9 at the hands of the Circleville Oils.

Three home runs were clubbed during the free-hitting ball game with Purcell and Goldsberry slugging them for the losers and Hegele hitting one for the visitors. The game looked like a rout when it started with the Feeds driving three runs over in the second and two more in the third. The Oils counted one in the fourth and so did the Eshelman crew. Three more crossed for the Oils in the fifth and four more in the sixth. The Feeds cut the margin by one in the seventh. Each team scored once in the ninth. Purcell's home run in the final half coming within one marker of tying the count.

Terhune and Purcell were the opposing moundsmen. The Oils were without the services of Ike Brungs, third sacker, and Everett Whaley, second baseman, but added Howard White, left outfielder.

SAINTS DROPPED FROM LEAD WITH INDIANS HITTING

BY UNITED PRESS
St. Paul lost the American Association leadership yesterday, dropping both games of a double-header to a battling bunch of Indianapolis Indians.

The Indians blanked the Saints in the first game, 5 to 0, Pitcher Bolen allowing only three safeties. The second session found the Saints making eight scattered hits for two runs, while the Indians thumped Weiner's offerings 15 times and scored eight counters.

Milwaukee moved to the lead, holding her percentage, now four points ahead of St. Paul, by splitting two with Columbus. The opener was a slugfest, 11-3 in favor of the Brewers. By a three-run rally in the sixth inning, the Brewers won by a margin of 4 to 3 in the nightcap.

Meanwhile Minneapolis and Louisville went 11 innings to decide a 4 to 2 encounter. Tising, Colonel mound star, gave six hits and fanned fourteen men before going wild. Grabowski of the Millers pitched steady baseball, giving up only five hits.

Kansas City again proved a jinx for the Toledo Mud Hens, beating the team on its home grounds 8 to 3 in a listless affair. It was the Blues 12th victory in 17 starts against the Hens.

About This And That
In Many Sports

Short Wins Second

Harry Short, one of Circleville's two contributions to present day racing, Charlie Valentine being the other, knocked off second money in the 2:13 pace at Goshen, N. Y., Tuesday, with his crack bay mare, Maralie Hanover. The mare finished 2 2 3 behind Dominion Grattan, winner in straight heats. The stake was $1,000. In the feature two-year-old trot for a $1,500 stake, Mr. Watt, driven by Berry, won in 1 5 1.

Greys Not Drawing

Zanesville may not be the home of an entry in the Mid-Atlantic baseball league next season. The Greys won the first half title, but are not drawing. Muskingum county baseball fans attribute that to one thing, the fact that home town boys are few and far between. About 10 years ago when the Mark Greys represented the city in the Eastern Ohio League, every Sunday saw a packed house because there were some Zanesville boys on the team. Included with Turk Reilly, catcher; Johnny Walker, first sacker who once saw service with the Phils; Lefty Kime, now a Columbus judge; Hoge Workman, who made his home in Zanesville after graduating from Ohio State, and others.

Ahead—Then Boom

It looked for quite a while like Columbus had bumped Milwaukee off for a double bill Tuesday afternoon. The first game was easy, and the second seemed in the bag at 3 to 1 with two innings to go. Then George Detore had to smack a ball over the garden wall and the contest was over. The Birdies will be back at them again this afternoon. It is the first time in years that all four western teams are in the first four places in the loop race.

Pro Returns Home

Tod Thompson, Pickaway County Club professional, is home after invading Dayton over the week-end. He shot some good enough to win any money in golf, but not good enough to win any money in the tough competition over the tough Northmead course.

All Airlines Cleared for Landon's Acceptance Address Thursday

SPEECH PLANNED AT 9 P. M. OVER THREE NETWORKS

Joan Crawford, Franchot Tone to Appear on Radio Monday

All airlines will be cleared Thursday at 9 p. m. for the address of Governor Alfred M. Landon of Kansas accepting the Republican nomination for president.

As a result several of the regular programs, including Bing Crosby and Horace Heidt, will be cancelled.

Governor Landon will speak from Topeka, Kansas.

MAMMAL ON AIR

A radio preview of the baluchitherium, largest land mammal known to science, will be presented over the NBC-Blue network, including 500,000-watt WLW, at 6:15 p. m. today in a special program from the American Museum of Natural History in New York City.

A plaster reconstruction of the huge pre-historic animal has been built up on bones collected in Asia. F. Trubee Davison, president of the Museum, will introduce Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, famous explorer, Dr. Walter Granger, curator of fossil animals, and Dr. William K. Gregory, curator of comparative anatomy.

Museum officials say the baluchitherium lived in the Asiatic deserts 25,000,000 years ago.

CRAWFORD AND TONE

Joan Crawford and Franchot Tone will play the leading roles in an air version of one of Miss Crawford's most popular movies, "Chained", on the Radio Theatre Monday night, July 27, at 8 p. m. (EST) over the WABC-CBS network. Since the marriage of Tone and one of the screen's best-known actresses they have been in demand for co-starring appearances in radio dramatic roles.

Miss Crawford portrays the beautiful, vivacious Diane Lovering, who is secretary to an elderly business man. Tone takes the part of Mike Bradley, a wealthy young Irishman, who owns a large ranch in Argentina. Diane's employer, Richard Field, falls in love with his secretary, believing that she has become a necessity in his life. Matters become more complicated when Field, desiring to marry Diane, is refused a divorce by his wife. The young girl leaves on a vacation in Buenos Aires, and on shipboard meets and falls in love with the fascinating Mike Bradley. The whirlwind courtship under the southern cross ends when Diane returns to New York and finds Field divorced from his wife, and eagerly making plans for their wedding. Diane decides that she holds the deeper affection for her grey-haired employer, and becomes his wife. All moves along smoothly for several months, until one day Diane catches a glimpse of Mike Bradley in a sporting goods shop in New York. She speaks to him and they lunch together. Soon they find themselves more and more drawn to each other. Then each confesses sincere abiding love. But Diane is married. "Chained" to a much older man. From this point on the drama mounts to a climax worthy of the powers of both Miss Crawford and Mr. Tone.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Bobby Breen, the eight-year-old boy tenor who has thrilled millions of radio listeners-in with a voice perfected unusually early, makes his cinema debut in the new melody drama, "Let's Sing Again," at the Cliftona theatre this Thursday.—One Day Only!

Singing since he was four years old, Bobby has been developed to a degree of excellence which Dr. Mario Marafioti compares with that of Caruso for attractiveness. This lyric tenor voice which Dr. Marafioti, coach of Grace Moore and other singing lights, has discovered in Bobby, was possessed by the immortal Caruso at the same age.

"Let's Sing Again," as its title implies, is a dramatic production laden with melody, moments of comedy and an abundance of heart-thrills. The comedy is explained by the presence of Henry Armetta, the Italian comedian of the titled head and the garbled English, in a strong, featured role.

Anybody who wants a place in the sun these days can have it for the asking.

Mainly About People

ONE MINUTE PULPIT
A good name is rather to be chosen than great riches.—Proverbs 22:1.

The condition of the three members of the Price family of Columbus, injured in an automobile accident Sunday, is improved. All are in Berger hospital.

H. E. Betz, Court and Main street restaurant man, was removed from Berger hospital Tuesday to his home, S. Court street.

Mrs. Frank Cook and baby boy were discharged from Berger hospital Tuesday afternoon and removed to their home on Pinckney street.

Vattier Courtright, local WPA engineer, L. L. Henninger, district supervisor, John Graham district engineer, and Norman Wagner, Columbus, were in Toledo, Wednesday. They went to the northern Ohio city to study a method being used in that section to crush old bricks and mix them with cement for road improvements.

Mrs. Israel Valentine, N. Court street, has been returned home from a Columbus hospital, and is reported resting well.

Ralph M. Leach, motor dealer, injured when crushed against a wall by a truck, remains a patient in Berger hospital. While not serious, his condition is painful.

Gaddy insisted to Sheriff Laurence Brown that he made his rounds at 1 a. m. and 2 a. m. "as usual" but his clock, which records the exact minute at which each post on his rounds is "punched," testified that he did not.

Sheriff Brown said Gaddy was not suspected of committing the crime, but that he expected to obtain vital information from him.

The "key to the whole situation" lies with Gaddy, Brown said. "I don't suspect him of having committed the crime, but I do expect him to tell me something."

Police, it was indicated, hope to obtain from Gaddy additional information about a pass key found in the door of Miss Cleveland's room when her uncle, Prof. W. L. Cleveland of North Carolina State college, went to awaken her Thursday morning.

The key, Brown said, "positively" was used by the murderer. The key and other evidence led police to believe that the slaying was "an inside job" — that it was committed by someone familiar with hotel routine.

The new line of inquiry turned the investigation away from Mark Wollner, concert and radio violinist, held for three days. Detective Chief Fred Jones said the inquiry into Wollner's movements the night of the slaying "indicated he is innocent" of connection with the crime.

columns were gaining strength as they radiated in a fan shaped movement southward toward the Madrid area.

Gen. Queipo De Llano, rebel commander in the south, with headquarters at Seville, was in less happy position. His men were losing ground and Seville was in danger of capture by loyalists. Government authorities at Madrid expected its fall soon.

Rebels gained some strength in the western area toward the Portuguese frontier. Travellers arriving from Salamanca, 110 miles west-northwest of Madrid, said the Salamanca army garrison joined a rebel force which arrived there and that the loyalist garrison commander was arrested.

has had wide experience in the light rate business and made three contracts with the city covering 10-year periods. "You must consider the amount of the investment, how much dividends are paid, and without these facts you can not establish rates," Dr. Jones explained. "If you have capital invested you would like to be assured of a 10-year contract. If power were free it would cost considerable to distribute it. You must consider overhead, equipment, depreciation, upkeep." He explained the commercial rates were probably established on a demand proposition.

Tax Rate Cited

The majority of those at the session seemed little interested in a municipally-owned plant. Councilman C. O. Leist reported a check some years back indicated tax rates were higher in cities having municipally-owned light plants and while some of the plants were successful, many were not. Attorney Charles Gerhardt considered a municipal plant "absolutely silly."

Karl J. Herrmann said many rural residents are "junking" their light plants to obtain current from power lines. "If council uses good judgment I feel the citizens should be satisfied," Mr. Herrmann said.

E. S. Neuding, grocer and former councilman, considered the meeting similar to that held for locating Berger hospital. Ideas were divided and finally council selected a site that has been very satisfactory. Mr. Neuding explained the comparison of rates of some small town with Circleville were not on a fair basis. In some of these towns the accounts are mailed and no offices maintained.

He expressed confidence in council to obtain the best rates possible.

Up to Councilmen

"It's cowardly of council to ask us about these matters," Attorney Charles Gerhardt said. He pointed out the citizens have confidence in councilmen and know they will do the best possible. "Don't listen to interests who know nothing about the business," Mr. Gerhardt said. "When I go into a clothing store they know the price they must charge for clothing. You can't store electricity like they store water in the standpipes. Someone mentioned about the company already having its equipment here."

JUDGE ADKINS' RULING FAVORS VINTON COUNTY

Judge J. W. Adkins has decided in favor of the Vinton county commissioners in a road action he heard there several weeks ago. Mrs. Gladys Queen was the plaintiff, charging a road, that she had fenced off, was her property. The action was to quiet title.

My meal planning worries are over with The NEW AIR CONDITIONED ICE Refrigerator

CIRCLEVILLE ICE CO.
Plant—Island Road

OPEN
6 a. m. Until Midnight Every Day

Going to the grocer's every time I turn around is a thing of the past at our house. Every Saturday I buy my meats and vegetables for the entire week. This new style ICE refrigerator keeps food FRESH and DELICIOUS until used. We have found more genuine pleasure in eating at home these summer evenings since we have discovered this NEW way to keep food.

We have an abundance of crystal clear, pure, tasteless ice cubes on hand at all times and the storage space is so large that George has plenty of room now for his beverages. We wouldn't think of going back to using a refrigerator that is not AIR CONDITIONED. My new NON-MECHANICAL air conditioned ICE refrigerator lets my food live and retain its flavor, life and aroma. You should see this new ICE Refrigerator today.
